

User Agreement for the NLDS

It is agreed that by the logging onto and thereby use of this Web platform called the Network Leadership Delivery System (NLDS) the User agrees to comply with the following User Agreement in concordance with any other User Agreements found within the NLDS and considers it a binding contract:

1. The User agrees that the NLDS is purely an independent content channel and thereby not responsible or liable in any way for any advice, information, consultation or direction received or implemented as a result directly or indirectly of the use of this content channel. Any views and/or opinions expressed on this platform do not represent the creators, owners or any other related persons or businesses associated with the operation of the NLDS.
2. The User agrees that they are eligible and/or permitted to access the information and media presented by any specific organization through what ever licensing agreements are required by that specific organization, as stated by the subscription contract the User agreed to upon obtaining a subscription to the NLDS.
3. The User agrees to keep in the strictest confidence any proprietary information presented on or through the NLDS platform and AGREES NOT TO MAKE COPIES OF ANY MEDIA FILES OR ANY OTHER INFORMATION FOR THE USE OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR ORGANIZATION.
4. The NLDS is no way responsible or liable for the protection of proprietary information or content outside the scope of due diligence expressed in the writing of specific User contracts, including but not limited to this specific User Agreement.